India - Training Leaders for Holistic Child Development

SUPPORT RAISED

INDIA

GOAL

IM seeks to raise $18,632 to train up to 30 leaders for holistic child development ministry.

SUMMARY

Eastern Theological College is the only centrally sponsored theological council of the Council of Baptist Churches in North East India. We will train and equip individuals to take up leadership in the church and society to promote and work for the cause of children in a holistic manner.

DESCRIPTION

Children need to be given the right opportunities to grow and thrive. They need to be nurtured in all aspects of life. Through this year-long training program, leaders will receive one month of an intensive on-campus course as well as seminars, field research and project-writing.

The Eastern Theological College, located in Jorhat, Assam, India, has taken up the challenge of training leaders to work toward holistic development among tribal children. This initiative is significant considering that tribal children comprise the most neglected group in a region that is characterized by poverty, illiteracy, violence and conflict in which children often suffer the most.
